Bringing to Life the Park's Story through the Junior Ranger Program

Project Title	Bringing to Life the Park's Story through the Junior Ranger Program
Project Summary	People of all ages love to learn about our country's rich cultural and natural stories through the National Park Service's iconic Junior Ranger program. Upper Delaware would like to redesign, revamp and reinvigorate its Junior Ranger book.
Country	United States

Project Description

Visitors, whether virtual or in person, want to learn as much as they can about the significance and diverse stories of each site within the 419 units of the National Park Service. One great way to do this is through the Junior Ranger program. From railroading to presidents to seashores to rivers Junior Ranger programs cover it all. Upper Delaware S&RR is looking to take its Junior Ranger book and add some pizzazz as well as incorporate new information about the park's natural and cultural stories that have been discovered over the years.

The project will include research on the park's primary and secondary stories. In addition develop activities that are both engaging and thought provoking to be included in Upper Delaware S&RR's Junior Ranger book. Now for the fun part! Utilizing new imaginative perspectives, creativity, imagination, and graphic design create a Junior Ranger book that inspires the next generation of stewards.

This is a great opportunity for any individual looking for practical experience in utilizing creativity and graphic design to create a product that could be utilized by thousands of people from across the country and potentially around the world.

Required Skills or Interests

Skill(s)
Editing and proofreading
Graphic design
Research
Writing

Additional Information

None

Language Requirements

None